NOW MORE THAN EVER

Since the chaotic withdrawal of the final US forces from Afghanistan, thousands who served there have asked themselves whether their sacrifice was worth it. As they do, an already terrible situation is worsened: texts to the VA crisis line have spiked nearly 100% since the same time last year. Now more than ever, our country must come together to support those who served and those still serving.

SPONSORING ORGANIZATIONS

Sound Off is proud to be partnering with a growing list of “Sponsoring Organizations” as we launch a new way to reach and support those we serve. These organizations have agreed to help bring Sound Off into their communities, help provide Battle Buddies, and fill clinical capacity - in some cases paying Sound Off for contract clinical support.

ABOUT THE SPEAKERS

Congressman Tony Gonzales

Tony Gonzales is a 20-year veteran of the United States Navy, who rose to the Navy's highest rank of Master Chief Petty Officer. An accomplishment that less than 1% of enlisted individuals achieve. During Tony's time in service, he was deployed multiple times in support of combat operations to Iraq (Operation Iraqi Freedom) and Afghanistan (Operation Enduring Freedom), and in support of regional security operations throughout Asia. He was on the front lines facing the most serious of situations an individual can face. Tony also served as a Department of Defense Legislative Fellow in U.S. Senator Marco Rubio's office where he provided essential contributions to the Senator's defense, foreign policy, and intelligence portfolios. On January 3, 2021, Tony Gonzales was sworn in as the 8th Member to ever serve the 23rd District of Texas. The 23rd District is larger than 30 states, covers more than 800 miles of border, has two time zones and is the only southern border district held by a Republican.

Marc Polymeropoulos

Marc Polymeropoulos worked for 26 years at the CIA before retiring in July 2019 at the Senior Intelligence Service level. In 2017 he was the victim of a "Havana Syndrome" attack and suffered a Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) that led to his retirement. His experience dealing with the impact of this attack and the CIA led to him going public and becoming an advocate for health care for TBI victims and all those suffering the invisible wounds of war. He was one of CIA's most highly decorated operations officers who served in multiple field assignments for the U.S. government. He specialized in counterterrorism, the Middle East and South Asia, including extensive time in Iraq and Afghanistan. Prior to his retirement, Marc served at CIA headquarters and was in charge of CIA's clandestine operations in Europe and Eurasia. He frequently comments on international events in the US media, to include the Washington Post, Fox News, The New York Times, GQ, Yahoo, CNN, and MSNBC. He also writes a weekly column on intelligence as a Washington Examiner contributor. Marc is the author of the book "Clarity in Crisis: Leadership Lessons from the CIA," published in June 2021 by Harper Collins.
